No single view is reliable everywhere — arm B
the best single view changes per dataset; the fused output is never far from the top and is best on the mean